

Aimee N. Wall, Thomas Willis Lambeth Distinguished Chair in Public Policy, UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government
wall@sog.unc.edu
919.843.4957

Profile

Aimee Wall joined the School of Government in 2001 to work in the public health law field, where her research areas included confidentiality of health information, environmental health inspection and permitting programs, regulation of smoking in public places, and the responsibilities and authority of local boards of health. She also developed expertise in animal control law, including rabies, dangerous dogs and animal cruelty. In 2011, Wall shifted her research focus from public health law to social services law and is in the process of developing her work in this new field. She also coordinates educational programs for new legislators and serves as a faculty liaison with legislators and other state level policymakers. Prior to joining the School, she practiced health care law with Powell, Goldstein, Frazer and Murphy in Washington, DC, and served as a health policy analyst in the Office of the Secretary in the US Department of Health and Human Services. She is a member of the North Carolina State Bar and the District of Columbia Bar. Wall earned a BA in English from the Ohio State University and a JD/MPH from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Sara DePasquale, Assistant Professor of Public Law and Government, UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government
sara@sog.unc.edu
919.966.4289

Profile

Sara DePasquale joined the School in May 2013. Previously, she was an attorney at Pine Tree Legal Assistance Inc., beginning her legal career there as a Skadden Fellow. For her last nine years at Pine Tree Legal, she was directing attorney of Maine's first and only children's law project, KIDS LEGAL. She served as an adjunct professor with the University of Maine School of Law teaching juvenile law. She is a member of the North Carolina State Bar, State of Maine Bar, the U.S. District Court of Maine Bar, and the U.S. First Circuit Bar. DePasquale received a BA with honors in history and sociology from Binghamton University, is a magna cum laude graduate of the University of Buffalo School of Law, and also earned a dual degree with an MSW in child welfare/family systems from the University at Buffalo School of Social Work.

Preconference

Rajeev K. Premakumar, Assistant Attorney General, North Carolina Department of Justice
RPremakumar@ncdoj.gov
919.716.6841

Profile

Raj represents clients from the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services including the Division of Medical Assistance and the Division of Aging and Adult Services. Prior to this, he worked in the Human Services and Medical Facilities Section of DOJ where he represented UNC Hospitals and UNC Healthcare. Raj earned his Bachelors of Science in Public Health degree with a concentration in Health Policy and Management from UNC-Chapel Hill. He earned a joint degree in law and public health (JD/MPH) from Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia.

Conference (in order of session)

Aditee Narayan, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics and Associate Program Director Duke Pediatric Residency Training Program, Duke Medicine
aditee.narayan@duke.edu

Profile

Dr. Narayan is an Associate Professor in the Duke Department of Pediatrics. She is an Associate Program Director for the Duke Pediatric Residency Training Program, where she leads curriculum development and mentorship programs. She has served in the Association of Pediatric Program Directors as a Chair of the Associate Program Director Executive Committee to the Board, Chair of the Mentorship Committee. She is Program Director of the Duke Child Abuse Fellowship Program, and is co-Chair of the national Child Abuse Fellowship Program Director Committee. Dr. Narayan has mentored and advised over 50 trainees. Dr. Narayan has published in medical education including national child abuse curricula, medical home curricula, learning styles, peer mentoring, and faculty development for curricula. She is currently leading the development of an online, peer reviewed repository of educational resources for Child Abuse Pediatricians, based on concepts of scholarship. Dr. Narayan has been the recipient of multiple grants including the Picker Foundation Grant, American Academy of Pediatrics CATCH grants, Duke AHEAD and Duke GME Innovations. She is currently collaborating with interdisciplinary professionals to optimize the medical care of children in foster care.

Shannon Tufts, Assistant Professor of Public Law and Government and Director Center for Public Technology, UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government
tufts@unc.edu
919.716.6841

Profile

Shannon Tufts designed and implemented the first local government Chief Information Officers Certification program in the nation and continues to run CIO certification programs for local and state government IT professionals. She created a National Certified Government Chief Information Officer program in 2007, in order to serve the growing needs of public sector IT professionals across the nation. Tufts has taught numerous courses on public sector information systems across the United States, including IT investment strategies, embracing technology, project management, and stakeholder engagement in technology-enabled government. She serves on several federal, state, and local government committees to promote the effective use of technology in the public sector. Her publications in the area of e-government and public sector information technology include Humanizing IT: Advice from the Experts with G. David Garson, numerous book chapters, and articles in Social Sciences Computer Review and Popular Government. She was named Albert and Gladys Coates Distinguished Term Assistant Professor for 2012–2014. Tufts earned a BA from UNC-Chapel Hill, an MPA from UNC-Charlotte, and a PhD in public administration with a concentration in public sector information systems from North Carolina State University.

Jeff Welty, Associate Professor of Public Law and Government and Director North Carolina Judicial College, UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government
welty@sog.unc.edu
919.843.8474

Profile

Jeff Welty joined the School of Government in 2008. He was named Albert and Gladys Hall Coates Distinguished Term Assistant Professor for 2012–2014. Prior to that, he completed a federal judicial clerkship, spent eight years in private practice, and served as a lecturing fellow at Duke Law School. Welty earned a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley and a master's degree in economics and a JD, with highest honors, from Duke University, where he was executive editor of the Duke Law Journal.

Alice Neece Mine, Assistant Executive Director, North Carolina State Bar
AMine@ncbar.gov
919.828.4620

Profile

Bachelor of Social Work, 1981 summa cum laude, North Carolina State University; J.D., 1985, The University of North Carolina. Ms. Mine practiced law in Durham, North Carolina from 1985 until 1993, concentrating in the areas of employment law and transactions. She joined the staff of the North Carolina State Bar in 1993 as Assistant Executive Director. In this capacity, she is staff counsel to the Ethics Committee, Director of Board of Legal Specialization, Director of Board of Continuing Legal Education, and Director of the Board of Paralegal Certification. From 1995 until 1997, she served as staff counsel to the NC State Bar's ad hoc Committee to Review the Rules of Professional Conduct. She also served as staff counsel to the NC State Bar committee appointed in 2001 to study and report on the recommendations on the Model Rules of Professional Conduct of the ABA Ethics 2000 Commission. From 2012 to 2014, she performed the same function for the NC State Bar committee appointed to study and report on the recommendations of the ABA Ethics 20/20 Commission. Ms. Mine was appointed to the ABA Standing Committee on Specialization in 2012 and served as the chair of the committee from 2014-2015. Ms. Mine was an adjunct professor at Duke University School of Law where she taught professional responsibility from 2001 to 2012.

Robynn E. Moraites, Executive Director, NC Lawyer Assistance Program
robynn@nclap.org
704.892.5699

Profile

Robynn E. Moraites is the Executive Director of the NC LAP. She obtained her undergraduate degree in education from Florida State and her law degree from UNC at Chapel Hill. Prior to attending law school, she ran a public health program at the University of Miami where she developed continuing medical education programs for healthcare professionals working in the field of geriatric medicine. Prior to joining the LAP, Robynn practiced law in North Carolina in large firm, small firm, and in-house settings. She has an extensive background and knowledge in helping lawyers in recovery.

Angie Stephenson, Assistant Attorney General, North Carolina Department of Justice
angie.stephenson@dhhs.nc.gov
919.527.6402

Profile

Angie is a Child Welfare Attorney with the North Carolina Office of the Attorney General. She has been in this position since January 2007 and, before that, worked for two and ½ years in Raleigh at the Law Office of Sally Scherer. She is licensed in North Carolina and Hawaii, and admitted to practice in the Eastern District of North Carolina and the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals. She is a past president of the American Association of Public Welfare Attorneys. She earned her law degree and MSW in 2003 from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Before graduate school, Angie was a child protective social worker in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, and on Maui, in Hawaii. Angie also has experience with mediation and adult mental health. Angie earned her Bachelor degree in social work in 1990 from Eastern Mennonite University in Harrisonburg, VA. She lives in Chapel Hill, North Carolina with her husband and son.

Lisa Corbett, Assistant General Counsel, North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services
Lisa.corbett@dhhs.nc.gov
919.855.4800

Profile

Lisa Granberry Corbett, J.D. received her undergraduate degree in Business Administration from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and her J.D. at Campbell University School of Law. She was employed in a general private practice in Goldsboro for about five years. In 1993, Ms. Corbett joined the Attorney General's office. She primarily represented the Department of Health and Human Services' Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Abuse Services and Division of State Operated Healthcare Facilities. In December 2013, she became an Assistant General Counsel for the Department of Health and Human Services.

Jessica Keith, Special Advisor on ADA, North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services
Jessica.keith@dhhs.nc.gov
919.855.4809

Barbara Stampul, Office of Civil Rights, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
Barbara.Stampul@hhs.gov
404.562.2799

Profile

Barbara Stampul joined the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights (OCR) as an Equal Opportunity Specialist (EOS) in Region IV in 2009, where she primarily assisted in OCR's Olmstead compliance and enforcement efforts. Barbara has served as a trial attorney detailee at the U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, where she worked on high-impact investigatory matters under each of the office's enforcement authorities. Barbara joined OCR Headquarters as a civil rights analyst in December 2013, where she served as a member of the Section 1557 team, and assisted in the drafting of the Section 1557 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. Barbara recently returned to OCR's Region IV, where she serves as a supervisory EOS. Barbara received her law degree from Emory University School of Law and her bachelor's degree from the University of Alabama. She also has a M.A. in Human Rights Studies from Columbia University. Before joining OCR, Barbara interned for Emory's Barton Child Law and Policy Center, the DeKalb County Child Advocacy Center and Atlanta Legal Aid.

Meredith Smith, Assistant Professor of Public Law and Government, UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government
Meredith.smith@sog.unc.edu
919.843.2986

Profile

Meredith Smith joined the School of Government in 2013. Previously, she was an associate with the law firm of McGuireWoods LLP in Charlotte, where she practiced with the real estate, corporate, and restructuring and insolvency groups on matters related to a wide range of issues including commercial loan modifications, foreclosures, bankruptcy, corporate governance, mergers and acquisitions, commercial leasing, and real estate purchase and sale contracts. Smith earned a BA in political science and Spanish, with distinction, from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a law degree, cum laude, from Georgetown University School of Law, where she was a member of the American Criminal Law Review.

Winsor Schmidt, Metrolina Medical Foundation Distinguished Professor of Public Policy on Health, UNC-Charlotte
wschmid2@uncc.edu
704.687.5633

Profile

Winsor C. Schmidt, J.D., LL.M. is the Metrolina Medical Foundation Distinguished Professor of Public Policy on Health in the Department of Public Health Sciences, University of North Carolina at Charlotte. He was previously the Endowed Chair/Distinguished Professor of Urban Health Policy, University of Louisville School of Medicine where he held faculty appointments as Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and Professor of Family and Geriatric Medicine, and as Professor of Health Management and Systems Sciences in the School of Public Health and Information Sciences. Professor Schmidt was the founding Chair of the Department of Health Policy and Administration at Washington State University. Professor Schmidt's publications include the books, Public Guardianship and the Elderly (Ballinger Publishing Company), Guardianship: Court of Last Resort for the Elderly and Disabled (Carolina Academic Press), and co-authorship of Public Guardianship: In the Best Interests of Incapacitated People? (Praeger Publishers), as well as over 55 book chapters and articles on health and mental health law and policy issues.

Professor Schmidt's teaching experience includes graduate courses on health law, health policy, mental health law, aging policy and law, children's health law and policy, women's health law and policy, social science in law, administrative law, and international health law and bioethics. Recent service experience includes the Board of Directors, National Committee for the Prevention of Elder Abuse, and the state of Washington's Certified Professional Guardian Board (2003-2012). He is Adjunct Professor of Law at Stetson University College of Law and a member of the District of Columbia Bar.